Roberts Loses Spending Power

By BOB WILLIAMS
Universe Staff Writer

At week's executive council meeting was dominated by soliciting opinions over the ASBYU summer president controversy. Asks Brian Walton's letter to The Daily Universe, July 14, ended by releasing Stan Roberts, summer executive vice president, of his power to spend YU funds.

Discussion of the situation is when Stan Roberts, who is trying the executive office in the absence of Don also, summer ASBYU student, drew attention to a if he had prepared and debated to concerned parties, the brief, Roberts listed three native courses of action that can be taken to solve the problem of a leaderless student government. They are: Ellison's from Washington, D.C., giving the status quo, and his replacement. Roberts then noted that Brian in his letter to The Daily Universe, had decided to retain status quo.

At the same time, according to Roberts, Lyle Curtis, administration official responsible to student government, responded to the question "What do you think of the alternatives?" that he chose. Since Walton had already stated his preference, Roberts then opened up discussion on a second question regarding the summer president controversy.

The question is whether or not non-student can hold office in student government. Roberts has a student, Gary Jensen, summer president of organizations, is registered as a summer student.

Roberts' quasi-student status as a result of his failure to pay a short-term loan to the university by the end of last semester.

Roberts is now auditing a 3-hour class. He claimed he did not receive credit for the during the second summer session provided he repays the at that time.

However, during the advisor

Baird pointed out that there is no additional problem since the won't be offered during the summer session. Thus, it is clear whether or not Roberts will be eligible for the job.

Roberts then reported that in discussion with Lyle Curtis, he felt that Roberts should allow to retain his position, the Jensen should step down.

Jensen Loses Job

In a council, including Jensen, in agreement that Jensen would be his post as summer vice student of organizations, though formal motion was passed to effect, Jensen said he would not "buck the powers that be." A phone call to an informed source later revealed that there is a possibility that no one will be appointed in Jensen's place since most of the work of the office is already done.

At this point, discussion on the summer president controversy seemed to end, as Roberts assured all that he could carry out the functions of the office. Again, no formal resolution to accept the status quo was adopted.

However, it was soon apparent that discussion was not over as Dr. L. M. Pei, university vice president of finance, introduced the next item on the agenda. He presented a motion in written form which pointed out that the council has no administrative control over non-students such as Roberts and Jensen or their expenditure of ASBYU funds.

Secondly, he motioned that the council "allow non-spending privileges from non-student members of the executive council." He then stated, "Since this will render two offices ineffective I also motion that we petition to have these offices filled by persons who are fully qualified and are authorized to properly utilize their power."

Groans.

This motion brought a flurry of groans from several of those present and a comment from Scott Candalan, summer vice president of athletics, that they had no reason to expect any mishandling of funds.

Newcomer said that he was responsible for the use of the funds and was therefore concerned over any possibility of mishandling of funds.

Roberts intervened in the discussion and pointed out that he could still operate in his office without the right to use funds, by having the financial needs of his office approved by Beverly Ferguson, administrative assistant to the ASBYU President, or other authorized persons.

Violence Not Widespread At Colleges, Says Dr. Pei

Speaking with reference to American violence during Thursday's Forum Assembly at Brigham Young University, Dr. Mario Pei said, "We may not be better (than other universities) but we certainly not worse."

Dr. Mario Pei, receiving the David O. McKay Humanities Award during the assembly, said that violence could be a token of the spirit of mankind rather than the spirit of America as some people think.

The life-time educator said that it is the belief of some that "the American university system is finished and that American education has failed." He feels this is incorrect and can be illustrated by looking at history.

Yale and Princeton were scenes of protests in the 18th Century.

The visiting professor said that two commissions have been studying campus violence. The American Council of Education has made the most extensive, he feels.

The commission found that 500 of the 2,300 institutions of higher learning have had manifestations of violence or demonstrated them.

Dr. Pei found that some of the basic reasons for the riots were caused by students with a real concern for internal reform in the school's system. Other basic reasons include; the Vietnam war, racially-inspired protests, a desire by some students for excitement and the students who wants out because he does not want to be in school and is there only to please his parents.

It was learned that of the colleges involved in protests 85% of the "big name" schools were involved. Some 145 institutions had serious violence (building-burning and bloodshed) while 379 schools had mild incidents. Most of the sit-ins were in nature. Of the schools involved, it was found that only 15% of the student bodies of these universities were involved in the protests, said Dr. Pei.

He feels that schools which do not become over-expanded and stay within their scope will in the long run be "properly rewarded."

Riddle-Second Last Lecturer

The ASBYU Academics Office continues its Last Lecture series with a lecture by Dr. Charles Riddle, dean of the Graduate School, Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. in the Varsity Theater.

The series, inspired by similar programs beginning with one at Brandeis University, aims to expose students to what the speaker considers the most important message he could give, his "Last lecture."

Dr. Riddle is the father of thirteen children, besides being dean of the Graduate School and a professor of philosophy.

The Daily Universe OPINION

Who's Minding The Store Now?

Gary Jensen has been removed from office as summer vice president of Organizations because he is not a registered student.

Stan Roberts, also is not a registered student but he has been retained in office as summer executive vice president and chairman of the Executive Council.

Jensen was removed on the advice of Lyle Curtis, student government adviser, because "the constitution" calls for student officers to hold "current student status." (If this is so, why is Roberts still in office?)

However, a reading of the ASBYU Constitution does not reveal any such ruling.

This could mean that Jensen was removed from office because of some unwritten "tradition" or personal whim.

The by-law dealing with summer school officers says that such officers "will be appointed by (the) newly elected ASBYU officers. If the appointee fails to function in the office, that office will remain vacant unless a new appointment is made by the ASBYU Summer School President, or, in the case of default by him, the elected ASBYU President."

It could be argued, perhaps, that Jensen was removed because he "failed to function in the office." But Jensen has effectively functioned in his office. He has worked long and diligently, and he was actively engaged in the planning and construction of the ASBYU float for the Fourth of July parade.

Now, although deprived of the title of vice president of Student Organizations, Jensen will still be allowed to work on projects emanating from that office. In other words, he can do all the work without the recognition of a title.

Of course, he has been deprived of the power to expend student funds, and so has Roberts. (See story page one.)

Which brings up another odd situation.

Should Roberts wish to spend student funds—and surely, as executive vice president this situation would arise—even to make a long-distance telephone call to the absentee summer president or the elected ASBYU President, then he first has to check with John Astle or Beverly Ferguson.

Both Astle and Miss Ferguson were appointed as special assistants to the summer president Don Ellison. Neither of them is on the Executive Council, and therefore neither of them has a vote in student affairs. But now they are in a position to approve expenditures by the executive vice president, an officer who actually has no power but who is supposed to represent the summer student body president and therefore the student body.

Confusion, it would appear, is the order of the day.

The fault, dear Brutus, lies not in the students but in the system.

Student government has been around long enough at BYU for it to have made some very definite rulings on student qualifications both for elected and appointed officers.

The present situation hardly dignifies student government.

Rockwood Appointment Big Plus For The State

Although he will be missed at BYU, the appointment of LaVar Rockwood to lead Utah's new Division of Drugs must be applauded.

Those who have worked with Rockwood can only echo the words of the chairman of the State Board of Drugs, "Mr. Rockwood's background and experience over many years in dealing with problems of youth, administrative and budgetary experience and work in the field of drug abuse and related fields particularly qualify him to serve as director."

Our only question is has the appointment and the Division of Drugs come too late?

It was conservatively estimated last year that 10 to 12 per cent of Utah's high school students had, at least once, used drugs or narcotics. Other estimates have run to 30 to 90 per cent of the highschoolers having used drugs at least.

These figures are old. If Utah is like other states, the figures have increased, not only for high school students but junior high and college students as well.

In an article printed in The Daily Universe last year, high school officials, law officers and local judges agreed that a drug problem has existed for some time—despite efforts by some to cover the fact up and hope that it would go away.

The local officials intimated that it was public apathy, ignoring the problem by some educators and church leaders and lack of knowledge by those who contact the youthful drug users which has caused the growth of the problem. Specifically, they complained of the lack of a rehabilitation program in the state.

Now, with the creation of the drug division, the state is to have programs in "education, prevention, treatment and rehabilitation, using whatever existing resources can be used and creating new resources as necessary."

PRESIDENTIAL QUESTION

Student Body Survey

The majority of BYU students polled by The Daily Universe recently feel the ASBYU Summer Student Government will be able to chug along effectively without student body president Don Ellison, but most said "no" to non-students holding ASBYU government offices.

Spurred by the recent hassle over the power structure of the ASBYU Summer Government, with the absence of Ellison who has accepted a post with "No," Ellison ought to be here. If Walton appointed him to be here for the summer since Walton won't be going to stay, then one ought to be here or another one ought to be appointed."

B) "No, not even if he has been a student before. He must be a current student to represent the students."

Scott Williams, a senior in Business Management from Provo:

A) "Yes, since the other student government offices fall right into the line of authority."

B) "No, it would be like taxation without representation."

Glenn Cook, a freshman in Chemistry from Salt Lake City:

A) "Yes, because no one person is indispensable. All of the vice presidents know their functions and are carrying them out effectively."

B) No, but if they have been a student at one time, yes."

Diane Chryst, a senior in Elementary Education from Salt Lake City who has worked in student government:

 A) "I think it can meet the needs of the students using the appointed officers that follow...it's the same when President Wilkinson leaves on trips, the administration doesn't cease."

B) "Yes, because he really wants to serve and could give the necessary time to his office, then I would be grateful to him."

David Putnam, a graduate in German from Keene, New Hampshire:

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(Editor's Note: The following letter from Florence, Italy, was received this past week by Dr. F. W. Willeford, Dean of Fine Arts and Communications. As an unsolicited testimonial for the BYU Cappella Choir it is worth sharing.)

By good fortune the Utah State University Cappella Choir of the Utah Study Tour was in Florence tonight. We went to the great Basilica of St. Crato to hear the BYU A Capella Choir. The greatness of that building with the Gloriani pillars around the altar and the roses of Giotto, Michelangelo, and Rossini, Machiavelli, Amerigo Vespucci and others combined with the excellence of the performance to transform the audience of 2,000 into a rapt silence.

In view of the circumstances I thought you ought to receive some unsolicited fan mail from rival institutions. We took our group and were thrilled with its impact on them. It made the tour complete after three days of concern over whether Vivaldi directly across the street from Verdi's house.

I started my enjoyment of music back in the fifth grade singing "One World-Built on a Firm Foundation" in the Tabernacle—since that music has been continuing ever since. Tonight was a unforgettable experience that will carry on many—especially the branch here in Florence (the missionaries did a great job—but also to those of us transients and glorians in the moon, the stars and our friendly river). It is a rare privilege to hear sacred music sung by those who believe it in a hall for which it was composed.

Add And Drop Begins July 13

Students who have decided not to remain for second session of summer school, but who registered for second session classes may drop these classes now. If from July 13 to 17, ported Friend Peterson, registration Officer. He added, however, that if students desire to drop a continuous class, a $5 fee is levied.

Second session summer school registration will begin Friday, July 10 with the first group of students going in at 7:30 a.m. in the Administration Building. This registration is for students who did not register first session, but would like to attend second session classes. Alphabetic lists in the summer catalog identify last names to various nests.

Peterson said that students who registered for first session classes did not register for second session courses will not register on July 18. Those students will need to present their first session registration card available from Advisor's and Registration Office in the Administration Building. This completed card should be turned into the Registration Office, 150 ASB, during the first week of second session classes, July 27.

He added that there will be no tuition refund on classes dropped after July 27. However, between July 27 and August 7, a $5 fee will be charged for drops. All card drops for continuous and second session courses must be turned in by August 7.

Teacher Education

Students interested in Teacher Education classes during the second session of summer school and fall semester must check with the Teacher Clearance Office to determine eligibility for those courses. The Grammar-Spelling Tests will be given on Friday, July 17, and Monday, July 20, for those who do not have a score of 20 or higher on the English section of the American College Tests.

Interested students must sign up for the course, turn in their deposit and can do so by calling extension 3426 or by going to the Teacher Clearance Office in the Young House.

ENTERTAINMENT

ROBERT PETERSON, as Jed Cutler, and Becky Glade, as Celia Cutler, share two of the leads in "Promised Valley", currently being staged in the Temple View Theater, SLC.

Till Aug. 29

Pioneers "Live"

Are you looking for something exciting, inexpensive and worthwhile to do this summer? If you are then "Promised Valley" may be the answer.

Now through August 29 "Promised Valley" is being presented in the Temple View Theater east of Temple Square. The musical play is presented each evening and is free to all those who wish to see the performance. Tickets are available in the Visitor's Center, on Temple Square.

"Promised Valley" is the story of the Mormon pioneers and their colonization of the West. History is brought to life by young performers and seasoned professionals. Singers, dancers and musicians of the Salt Lake area compose the cast.

Temple Back Drop

The Salt Lake Temple provides a backdrop that is dramatically lighted during the final scene to give the final emphasis of the production.

The musical is in its fourth year and has been seen by more than one third of a million people. This year it is expected that more than 100,000 viewers will take in the play.

Alternating in the lead roles are Robert Preston and Gene M. Larson as Jed Cutler and Becky Glade and Christine Timothy as Celia Cutler. Mr. Petersen is presently starring in "Man of La Mancha" in a San Diego production of the musical.

Florence Jacobsen, WYMA general president, said "Seats are in less demand during the first few weeks of the performance. Later in the season is when the largest group of tourists are in the city."

She added, though, that 1,000 additional seats have been added for the larger audiences. Last year, the production played to standing-room-only audiences.

Band And Symphony Performs Wednesday

The Summer Concert Band and Symphony directed by Ralph G. Laycock will perform Wednesday, July 15 at 8:15 p.m. in the Harris Fine Arts' Madsen Recital Hall. There will be admission charge.

The 40 member band program includes "The January February March" by Gillis, the three movement "Viva Vivaldi" by Jenkins, Persichetti's "Palladium for Band," Thomason's "A Solemn Music," and "Round and Round" by McRae.

The Symphony musical renditions will provide musical buffs with "Sinfonia No. 8" by Mozart; "Overture to Don Giovanni," "Elegy for Orchestra" from the works of Corigliano and J. Strauss' Overture to Die Fledermaus.

Dr. Laycock, experienced conductor of BYU's musicals,

Job Corps Discussed

The Job Corps Center at Clearfield, Utah, will be the topic on "American Dialogue" Wednesday at 8:00 p.m. on Channel 11.

The Job Corps program in general was discussed recently on "American Dialogue". "Job Corps—Part II" will be more concerned with the Job Corps Center in Clearfield and how it differs from those in other parts of the nation.

Guests of host Doyle Buckwalter, Asst. Professor of Political Science at BYU, will be Grant Cullimore, Associate Director of Community Relations at the Clearfield center, and two corporals at the center.

The public is invited to call the KBZY-TV studio on direct, toll-free lines to ask questions or make comments to the guests during the program.

200 LOCAL performers will highlight Manti's Book of Mormon Pageant. Manti citizens are also providing original, exotic costumes and jewelry for the play.

Book Pageant Slated July 15-18 In Manti months preparation has come to a peak this week with the showing of The Mormon Pageant in Manti, Utah. R. Clair Anderson, president of the Sangre de Cristo Lodge, which is in charge of the pageant, seating at the base of the hill will be provided boxes of about 6,000 each. The performances are to begin at 8:35 July 15 and 18.

If that arrangements are provided for adequate food and drink sold by wards for the convenience of visitors.

Meals have been secured for parking of campers and in Manti. Accommodations available in Manti in a limited number of additional accommodations available in surrounding communities.

The pageant has been widely advertised through the action of thousands of individuals and by other means," Anderson said, "and we expect a total attendance of 10,000."

The pageant is an adaptation of Bruce Johnson's "The Great Miracle," a dramatic reading which Miss Johnson first presented on a lecture tour, later in the Salt Lake Tabernacle at the Centennial Conference of the Mutual Improvement Association and more recently before numerous groups.

Francis L. Urry, the other narrator, is a well-known announcer, actor, producer and writer.

The 1970 pageant will present, in a series of episodes, dramatic highlights of Latter-day Saint history and doctrine.

Among the episodes will be The Vision, the Book of Mormon sequence, the Western Exodus, and the Resurrection.

The Prophet Joseph Smith will be portrayed by Dari Mangelsen, Ephrath.

Almost 250 other performers will appear in the various scenes.

The scenes will be performed before large stage settings painted by local artists under the direction of Oraal Allred. The settings are in effect murals appropriate to the particular episodes.

Technical changes in the 1970 production will be the use of a sound tape developed by Bonneville International Corp.

Farnsworth Gets Grant

Dr. Lee W. Farnsworth, associate professor of political science at BYU, has been awarded a Fulbright-Hays Research-Study Fellowship for 1970-71 in Japan. Issued by the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, the award is given "to promote mutual understanding and cooperation and to strengthen our relations with other countries."

BYU has one of the leading Asian Studies programs in western United States, and Dr. Farnsworth specializes in its political science and international relations courses on Japan, China, and Southeast Asia.

Dr. Farnsworth will conduct research on the subject "Perception of Left-Founder Roles in Japan's Liberal Democratic Party." This is an extension of his research just completed of public attitudes towards political roles. The research involves interviews and study of the top political leadership in Japan.

Prep Footballers Eye BYU For Pigskin Play

At least 39 prep football stars, most of them all-state calibre, will attempt the giant step from high school to the college game this fall at Brigham Young University. According to J. L. Helm, the Cougars' freshman coach, a few others are expected to sign before school gets underway this fall. So far, a total of 39 have put their signatures on a BYU letter-of-intent.

The first of four freshman games this fall is scheduled for Oct. 23 when the first-year team travels to Rexburg for its season opener with Ricks College. A week later (Oct. 30) the Kittens will meet the Utah State Ramblers in Logan.

BYU's two home games will be played in November. The Kittens will host the Air Force squad (Nov. 6) in Provo, and the final game of the season will pit the BYU front against the Ute Pioneers (Nov. 13).

Listed below are the players who have signed with BYU to date:

Bill Albright, halfback, Phoenix, Ariz.; Joe Bailey, tackle, Orem; Mark Bernsten, linebacker, Salt Lake City; Jon Bingham, fullback, Salt Lake City; Phil Bird, center, Phoenix; Dan Brooks, tackle, Corvallis, Ore.; Larry Clegg, linebacker, Canoga Park, Calif.; David Crandall, tackle, Heber, Ariz.; William Critchfield, tackle, Lynnwood, Calif.; Cary Dalton, center, Raymond, Alberta, Can.; Jerry Dugger, end, Tulsa, Okla.; Tom Echohawk, halfback, Farmington, N.M.; Steve Gardner, halfback, North Ogallala, Neb.; Gladwell, halfback, Ogden; Scott Haneberg, tackle, Honolulu, Hawaii; Clark Hodgkinson, halfback, Denver, Colo.; Ralph Hunt, tackle, Norwalk, Calif.; Bryce Johnson, halfback, Riverside, Calif.; Rich Kosey, halfback, Eugene, Ore.; Rodney Kosey, halfback, Eugene, Ore.; Mark Kinkaid, quarterback, Miami, Fla.; Robert Larson, end,

Summer Soccer Open For Players

Beginning Aug. 1, the BYU state team will commence a slate of eight contests during August and September. Included in these games will be four practice games and three contests in the Utah Daynes Soccer Cup. The soccer team will represent the summer sports attraction at school. BYU will host the Labor League Champions from Vienna on Aug. 1.

With all this imminent summer action planned for the soccer field, there is a real need for more space on the present squad. In fact, Coach Boden indicated that "all positions are still open as of today."

Practice will be every Wednesday and Thursday from 7-9 p.m. on Haws Field. Aspiring team members may contact the coach at the practice sessions or by telephone at 375-0053.

The 41st All-Star Game will have an added attraction—Cincinnati's new multi-million dollar Riverfront Stadium carpeted backdrop. The stadium will serve as the host ballpark for the premiere performers of the American and National League.

Also for the first time in 13 years, the players were selected in a poll conducted during the first half of the season among the avid fans of both leagues who selected the players of their choice to compete in this year's classic. The fans went for power in both leagues and this year's All-Star Game could be a carbon-copy of last year's slugfest won by the National League 9-3.

An overflow crowd of 51,000 spectators is expected to be on hand to adorn the spacious Riverfront stadium to watch their favorites in action. The National League will be led by Hammering Hank Aaron and the "Say Hey kid," Willie Mays. Aaron will be making his 19th appearance for the National League, while Mays will be in his 21st All-Star game.

The American League, not to be outdone, will count such high stars as Harmon Killebrew, Frank Robinson and Luis Aparicio. Killebrew is the top American Leaguer in this year's contest with nine previous years experience in back of him, while Robinson and Aparicio have been in eight All-Star contests in the past.

Fireballer Tom Seaver, of the World Champion New York Mets will handle the pitching chores for the National League All-Stars while Baltimore's Jim Palmer will toe the rubber for the American League. Palmer, you may recall was the World Series hero in Baltimore's four consecutive 1966 Los Angeles Dodgers in the 1966 series in which he bested the Dodgers great left-hander Sandy Koufax twice.

The National League has been coming strong in the past and now hold a comfortable 22-17 edge over the American League.

Big Game Hunts Set

Defending champion Tony Jacklin of England finished with a 76, his worst round of the tournament, and wound up at 286.

The next best finish by an American was the 290 by Arnold Palmer, who finished with a final round of 74. Billy Casper had a final round 75 and wound up at 293.

Sanders, who had to qualify for this year's championship, finished one stroke behind Nicklaus at Muirfield, Scotland, where the Columbus, Ohio golfer won the 1966 Open.

Guaranteed Income

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Fred H. Harris (D. Okla.) proposed today a $20 billion plan to guarantee every American family an income. It would provide $3,600 a year to a family of four when fully implemented.

The plan would go into effect over a three-year period, with needy families receiving a minimum income of $2,520 in the fiscal year, starting next July 2, $3,060 the next year and $2,600 the following year.

After completion of public meetings through the State, Utah's five man Board of Game Control set big game hunting for 1970. The Board declared all the Manti unit (Trail Mountain). The Board emphasized that the liberalized elk regulations are experimental and an attempt to provide additional recreational opportunities for Utah sportsmen. They will review carefully the results of this year's hunt to determine if such a hunt can be continued.

The Board authorized 2,050 special deer permits, and set buck-only hunts on the Heaton, Oak Creek, Dixie-West Pine Valley and Dixie-Terry-Ox Valley deer units. Five day hunts were set for the Vernal, East Tintic, Ashley-Vernal and North and South Book Cliff units.

Male and female elk permits will be available on a drawing basis if over-subscribed, on the following units: Ashley-Daggett,

Ashley-Vernal, Ashley-Whit-cross, Cache-Rich, and part of the Manti unit (Trail Mountain).

Beauty Prize

WASHINGTON — Two Utah communities, Brigham City and Roosevelt, have been chosen for their outstanding achievement in clean, beautification and civic improvement during 1969.

The awards were announced during the National Conference on Beautification by Charles Wilkinson, special consultant to President Nixon and president of the newly established National Council for Voluntary Action.
